

About the Program

The Summer Institute in English, part of the English as a Second Language program at North Carolina State University, is designed for students, business people, and professionals pursuing more advanced proficiency in English. It provides intensive communicative instruction and practice in the use of American English with classroom instruction in speaking, listening, grammar and writing. A computerized language laboratory is available for some class projects and activities. The Institute offers a number of non-academic evening and weekend activities. These social events help students adjust to the area, provide opportunities to practice English skills, and engage in crosscultural experiences. Find out more at go.ncsu.edu/sie.

The University

Located in Raleigh, North Carolina, NC State University is a unit of the consolidated University of North Carolina system. Long known as a center of research and teaching in engineering, agriculture, textiles, forestry, architecture, business management, and the humanities and social sciences, NC State University has earned an international reputation for excellence. In 2015, NC State University was named in Reuters' top 100 list for "The World's Most Innovative Universities." Learn more about the university at www.ncsu.edu.

The City

In October 2014, the American Institute for Economic Research ranked Raleigh-Cary #3 among Best U.S. Cities for College Students (for mid-size metros). Other recent accolades for Raleigh include being rated #2 among 2014's Most Educated Cities by WalletHub, #3 Best Up-and-Coming Cities for Art and Culture by Women's Health, #2 among America's 15 Best Cities for Young Professionals by Forbes, and #4 of the Top 10 Happiest Metropolitan Areas by the University of British Columbia. Known for its educational and cultural institutions, Raleigh and the surrounding area boast outstanding universities (NC State University, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Duke University). There are many cultural attractions and a vibrant nightlife scene with an eclectic mix of restaurants, dance clubs, and concert venues.

With miles of beautiful, unspoiled beaches, North Carolina is home to the Cape Hatteras and Cape Lookout National Seashores. Located in the Piedmont of North Carolina, Raleigh is centrally located and only a two-hour drive east to the Atlantic Ocean. Located a few hours' drive to the west are the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Great Smoky National Park. Washington, DC is only a five hour trip by car. Eligibility

Applicants must be at least 16 years old and all levels of proficiency in English, from beginning to advanced to pre-university studies, are welcome to attend. Students are placed into classes according to proficiency levels. Students who do not arrive by the beginning date of the program must inform the Institute of their date of arrival. The Institute retains the right to refuse admission to a student who arrives more than one week late.

Courses of Instruction

Classes are held 23 hours per week. Students are encouraged to use the computer laboratory to complement course work. Core classes are:

- Speaking
- Listening
- Grammar
- Writing

In addition, a variety of elective courses are also offered:

- Cultural Topics/Conversation
- American English Pronunciation
- Business English
- Presentation Skills
- Reading and Vocabulary Development
- TOEFL Preparation

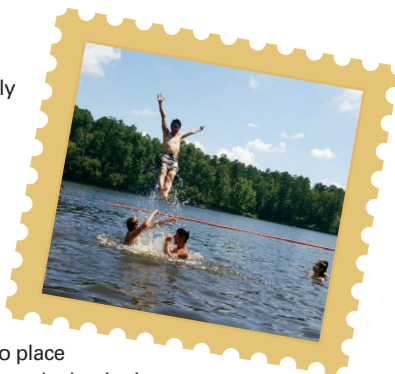

Although all classroom work is conducted on the NC State University campus, attendance at the Institute does not carry academic credit.

Field trips and cultural activities are available in the evenings and on weekends:

- Games night
- Meal with an American family
- Ice skating
- International night
- Trip to the lake
- Tour of downtown Raleigh
- Dancing

Testing

Proficiency tests are given at the beginning of the Institute to place students in appropriate classes at the beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels.

Housing

Students who request on-campus housing will receive a housing contract for an air-conditioned residence hall. Students will room together, two to a room. To encourage their use of English, students of the same language background usually will not be placed together in a room. The residence hall will be available two days prior to the beginning of the Institute. Students are encouraged to arrive on one of these two days and check in so that they may have time to unpack and have a day of rest before the first day. If a student needs to arrive prior to Saturday, June 24, 2017, there will be an additional $25 per early arrival day added to the housing fee. The residence hall will issue sheets, pillowcases, and bath towels to each student. Students are responsible for keeping their linens clean. Students who wish to live in apartments off-campus must find accommodations for themselves. Several options are located within walking distance of the university. The Institute does not have the ability to place students with families in Raleigh.

Meals

The residence hall fee includes three meals a day, Monday through Friday. Food service on Saturday and Sunday is available at on-campus cafeterias and snack bars, as well as many nearby off-campus restaurants.

Health Services

Insurance for emergency care is included in the course fee. With the provided insurance, students can receive on-campus medical care from Student Health Services, which is open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. A nurse hotline is available at other hours. Students must submit a completed medical consent form in order to be treated at Student Health Services.

Clothing

Raleigh has a relatively mild climate; however, summer can be hot and humid. Lightweight clothing is recommended.

Parking

A campus parking permit can be purchased for $125*. A permit is required if you will be parking a car on campus.

Costs

Course Fee for applications received on or before May 5, 2017:

3-week	$1,995
5-week	$2,195

Course Fee for applications received on or after May 6, 2017:

3-week	$2,295
5-week	$2,495

Residence hall fee*

3-week	$900
5-week	$1,450

Weekend Meals (on your own) approximately $100 per week

Incidental personal expenses such as laundry and entertainment are not included. A $500 deposit, which is applied to the course fee, must be included with the application. Students must pay the balance for the tuition and the residence hall by the first day of the Institute by cash, U.S. check, American Express travelers checks, or credit card. If you cancel your registration, $350 of the deposit will be refunded provided notification of cancellation is received on or before June 5, 2015. After that date, no refund is possible.

Application Requirements and Procedures

A copy of the application form and certificate of financial responsibility can be found at our website: go.ncsu.edu/sie

Persons wishing to apply for admission to the Institute should download, complete and return the application, with a $500 deposit to the following address:

North Carolina State University
Office of Professional Development, Box 7401
Raleigh, North Carolina 27695-7401 USA

For more information about the program, email: Carolyn Quarterman, Program Director, at cquarter@ncsu.edu

Admission to the Institute does not imply admission to any other NC State University academic program or to any other branch of the University of North Carolina. Students must apply separately for other areas of study.

Note to applicants who require an I-20/Visa:

We will continue to accept applications through June 22, 2017. Candidates are strongly recommended to submit their applications before May 5, 2017. Applications received after that date may not have enough time to secure the mandatory visa.
